Fist Fight Narrowly Averted
As Director Campbell Says Department Is Disloyal to Board; Lies Told, He Avers

Challenged by Father of U. C. Football Star; Failure to Halt Sessions on Washington's Birthday Causes Clash

A wrathful word tilt, which was apparently paving the way for a fist fight, between School Director Fred Campbell and Edgar Muller, father of the famous "Erick" Muller, University of California football star, was interrupted by members of the board of education as their meeting was adjourned last night.

The friction, which had been developing throughout the entire session, was started by Muller, who, after the session was adjourned, as a result of charges made by Campbell against teachers of Oakland. During the session Campbell sprang to his feet and asserted that "every member of the school department is disloyal to the board of education" and that "falsehoods and lies" are being circulated.

CAMPBELL'S CHARGES CHALLENGED BY MULLER.

"After the board meeting had adjourned, Muller went inside the hall and accused Campbell,

"Just who were your remarks aimed at?" asked Muller.

"If the shoe fits, wear it," said Campbell.

The ensuing action was barely averted by Directors Hatch and Chandler, who held Muller and other officials, who held Campbell. Both Muller and Campbell finally left the room, separately.

The meeting mainly concerned bids for the new Alexander Hamilton Junior High school, which will cost at least $25,000.

Campbell's declarations came after a discussion of Washington's birthday, when schools were kept open. It was admitted that there was considerable popular disapproval of this, and members of the board have been questioned.

"The responsibility rests with the state law," said Mrs. Daisy Short. "Unless the board had specifically ordered otherwise the schools were automatically kept open."

"They should have been closed," said Mrs. Ormsby. "Had I been here I would have voted for it."

"No member of this board made any resolution to close," said Director J. F. Chandler.

Campbell arose and announced he had something to say. Chairman Harry Boyle called him out of order and rapped on the gavel, but Campbell insisted on continuing.

CAMPBELL INSISTS ON MAKING CHARGES.

"If it you want," he said, "call on the chief of police. I am going to say something. I am one of this school department are disloyal to the board. Every word that has been said lately about this board is a pack of falsehoods and lies. As for the superintendent of schools, where is he? Every time he is wanted he is in the East somewhere."

Campbell continued at some length after Boyle quit trying to call him out of order. The meeting then quieted down.

The board of education's public education advisory committee suggested that a "functional chart" showing the organization of the schools be made out for general study. Dr. Virgil Dickson of the department of research was requested to make it out.

A plan to condemn the Benjamin Shaffer property on Lakeshore Highlands for a school site was laid over one week. This tract would allow for school in the "hill district" near Crocker Highlands.

U. S. Supplies for Boy Scouts Proposed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The Boy Scouts of America would be authorized to borrow or buy from the army and navy such supplies and equipment as might be helpful in carrying out the program of the organization and which might be spared by the departments, under a bill introduced by Representative Strong, Republican, Kansas.

Condemned Youth Shakes Off Coma; Faker, Says Doctor

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—Guards at the death cell of Harvey Church, sentenced to be hanged Friday, announced that the prisoner had come out of the state of semi-coma into which he lapsed shortly after his self-imposed hunger strike of 22½ days, and that during the night the prisoner had muttered unintelligible syllables.

Dr. Norman Copeland, who went to the cell when the guards reported Church's mutterings, sat by the bedside for hours and later announced that Church would live to go to the gallows.

Dr. William O. Krohn, psychiatrist, said that Church was a "faker," but possessed of "one of the greatest wills I have ever observed."

"He is not mentally dead," he said. "His brain may be numbed by hardships he has forced himself to go through, but Church, if he does not understand everything that goes on around him, fails only because he actually has hypnotized himself into semi-coma."

LONDON, Feb. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Princess Mary, only daughter of King George and Queen Mary, was married today to Lieutenant Lascelles with all the pomp and dignity befitting a royal wedding.

The ceremony began in Westminster Abbey at 11:30 o'clock and soon thereafter the couple were pronounced man and wife, while the choirmen of Westminster rang out the happy message and vast crowds surrounded the abbey.

The ceremony began in the abbey with the bridegroom on the altar, as one of impressive dignity, with the king and queen and the entire royal household participating and with all ranks represented in the brilliant assembly, while outside the abbey enthusiastic popular homage was given the bridal pair.

The long-awaited day found London crowded with excursionists from all parts of the isles and the continent. Americans also were in evidence, hundreds having made the voyage to gain a glimpse of the great state function.

HONEYMOON TRAIN FOR COUNT AND BRIDE PREPARED

Princess Mary Becomes Wife of Viscount Lascelle

FOR FIRST TIME AS SPECIAL
LEAVES FOR SHROPSHIRE.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—Princess Mary's "honeymoon special" was prepared to leave London with the bride and bridegroom for Shifnal, Shropshire, at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The railway officials arranged a non-stop journey. It was planned to have the 136 miles being covered at an average speed of between fifty and sixty miles an hour, the train slowing down only at important centers to let the crowds obtain a passing glimpse of the couple.

"Princess Mary" was the name of the locomotive assigned to draw the train, which consisted of the Queen's train and two other carriages from the royal train. It was planned to have no other occupants aboard the train except the couple's maid and valet and railway officials.

The little village of Shifnal is densely packed with visitors and sightseers from surrounding districts and the station has been gaily decorated. It has been arranged that the youngest "Mary" in Shifnal shall present a bouquet to the princess immediately. The latter has alighted from the train.

Along the five-mile route from the Shifnal station to Weston Park, the residence of the Earl of Bradford, where the couple will spend the first part of their honeymoon, a guard of honor formed of ex-service men will be stationed.

A suite of rooms in Weston Hall has been set aside especially for the couple's use. The princess' boudoir is finished in sage green and gold and in it is much old china, principally Dresden.

Bad Check Operator Suspect Arrested

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—Robert Seeley, charged with passing worthless checks on four San Francisco hotels, was yesterday taken into custody at Del Monte. It is alleged he incurred nearly $2000 through the passing of the checks. He is also alleged to have swindled two automobile concerns here by presenting automobiles and giving worthless checks in payment. After his stay in San Francisco he went to Oakland, where he stopped at the Hotel Oakland before going to Del Monte, according to the detectives who worked on the case.

EXPORT TAXES PAID.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 28.—American oil companies with producing wells in Mexico have paid all the export taxes due under the decree signed by President Obregon February 12, it is stated at the treasury department. Approximately 15,000 pesos were received.

Black Cat at Abbey Is Good Omen for Mary

LONDON, Feb. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—The appearance of a black cat under the gates of Buckingham palace early this morning was hailed as an omen of good luck for the Princess Mary by the people assembled there. The crowd, consisting mainly of women and children, cheered the animal lustily.

EXPERIENCE

Forty-nine years of piano merchandising has taught us to know your musical needs and how we may most economically and satisfactorily serve them.

One of our earliest decisions was: Never to sell a piano for more than its legitimate worth; never to offer an instrument too low for the buyer's safety.

LUDWIG SMALL GRANDS

More than One Hundred Thousand western homes have left their musical problems to us. More than Twelve Thousand of them selected Ludwig pianos.

Ludwig small Grand pianos embody beauty of tone, of action, of design, and finish, with those characteristics of material, workmanship and finish that have made the Ludwig the most famous of pianos for the home. They are most moderately priced.

COUPLE TO PASS HONEYMOON AMID BRITISH FRIENDS

Earl of Bradford Turns Over
Home at Weston Park to Princess and Husband.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—It is understood that Viscount Lascelle and Princess Mary will pass the first part of their honeymoon at Weston Park, the Shropshire home of the Earl and Countess of Bradford, who are distantly related to Lord Lascelle.

At the sixty-seventh Psalm was chanted, and the anthem, "Behold, Let Us Love One Another," was sung during the service. During the ceremony the bride carried an exquisitely bound pink service book, a gift from the queen. The royal bridesmaids were: Princess Maude, Lady Rachel Cavendish, Lady Mary Thynne, Lady Victoria Mary Cambridge, Lady Doris Gordon-Lennox, Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, Lady Diana Bridgeman and Lady Mary Cambridge.

The ceremony ended, the Archbishop of Canterbury addressed the couple, saying in part:

"It seems probable that no daughter of a reigning king was ever today married in the abbey. Certainly no marriage ever occurred here under conditions quite like yours. The wedding party created much of the excitement in the court season of Queen Victoria, when Alexandra, then Princess, now the Queen, usually acted as the Queen's representative."

In those days these entertainments were most deadly dull and King Edward used to be quite frank in expressing his gratification when they came to an end. The ball that now suggested would, however, be on quite different lines, and the formal state quadrilles with which these balls used to be opened would be eliminated.

"Such testing with such equipment can make it outlast in the quiet after years. No end of the kind, no necessity on that scale, please, will come again in your lifetime. To those who are worthy of it, peace, to bring its privileges in central places. Our central homes can bestow on English life an inestimable boon. If the fierce light which beats such a home reveals there what is honest and pure, the gain is far-reaching, it spreads. There lies the opportunity for both; you are going to use it."

PRINCESS' SERVICE.

"To you, my child, the war days of your girlhood brought occasion for glad service. Experiences, however, simple in a hospital ward can give an abiding stimulus to one who cares. In this, as in all else, as in the leadership of crippled English girlhood, you have given, through your knowledge which you will now contribute to securing the strength, orderliness and sunshine of a great English home."

"Together you will set yourselves to this. Happiness in home life, even when it is blessed like yours with high traditions, is not a matter of course. It has its root in mutual love, which is tender and thoughtful, but brave and unreserved in its honesty, and unselfish in its devotion, but brave and unreserved in its strength to strength."

"The power so to do must come from on high. We are here this morning as Christians; our fealty and your fealty are pledged to the living Lord. The center, the inspiration, the master in the home is Jesus Christ, our Lord. It is in His name that with gladness of heart and buoyancy of hope we today, on behalf of the whole empire and people bid you godspeed."

REGISTER SIGNED.

The bride and bridegroom then passed to Edward the Confessor's chapel, where two registers were signed—one known as the royal register, in which the entry of to-day, February 28, occurred six pages, and the other, the abbey register, which is signed alike by royal and subjects. Mary used a gold quill pen, one of her wedding gifts.

The signing completed, the bridal march from "Romeo and Juliet" and "Mendelssohn's Wedding March" were played. The bride and bridegroom stepped down the abbey to the west door, preceded by the choir and clergy and followed by the bridesmaids. The clergy moved off to the Jerusalem chamber as cheerfully as the appearance of the united couple in the doorway, reverberated through the edifice.

The king and queen and other members of the royal family moved toward the door and the new viscountess and her husband began their triumphant return through the tumultuous street throngs, using this time the carriage in which Queen Mary went to the abbey. The route was varied to give other crowds an opportunity to see the couple.

ROUTE TO PALACE.

At the Mall the carriage turned through the Marble Arch gate and went past St. James palace into St. James street, thence proceeding through Piccadilly and Hyde Park to the corner of Constitution Hill, and thus to Buckingham Palace.

The king and queen in the state coach and other royal personages quickly followed, and the wedding breakfast was served there to a company of about 170 persons, including the royal family and relatives and closest friends. A feature of this was the cutting of a gigantic 600-pound wedding cake made of five tiers, standing nearly seven feet in height, the ingredients of which were sent especially from the various parts of the British Empire.

EGYPT WINS ITS LONG STRUGGLE FOR FREEDOM

Lloyd George Announces in Commons That Protectorate
Has Been Abandoned.

Nationalist movement of the Hindus. The followers of Abbas Hilmi and Said Zaglou Pasha meanwhile turned to more violent measures.

Street lamps and shop windows were smashed in Alexandria. British government offices in Gizeh were raided and mobs entered the European quarter in Port Said. The disturbance became so serious late in December, 1921, that special British naval units were sent to Suez, Ismailia, Port Said and Alexandria. Cairo for a time was without means of transportation and 100 agitators were arrested in Alexandria.

During the Tudeh peace conference, Zaglou and a few of his aides under him to present the case of Egypt, but he and his fellow Nationalists were arrested and imprisoned in Malta, where they remained until the conference adjourned. The Nationalists, meanwhile, carried on an extensive propaganda and Zaglou's arrest was accompanied by violent outbreaks in Cairo and Alexandria. On October 14, 1921, Zaglou arrived at Cairo, but the British forbade his landing and Viscount Allenby, several months later, ordered his deportation to Ceylon.

British interest in Egypt, whose Suez canals makes it the empire's highway to India and the rich regions of the East, really dates from 1848, when the railroad from Alexandria to Cairo was started. The country was invaded by Napoleon in 1798 and the French were expelled in 1801 but later for many years they occupied the country.

Camp Followers' of Hollywood

By BEULAH MARIE DIX

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 28.—On February 1, 1922, William D. Taylor, a director of specials, who for some five years had been employed at the Lasky studio, was mysteriously assassinated at his home in the Westlake district of Los Angeles. Almost before his body was cold—almost before we who had known him and worked with him had realized he was gone—there broke forth through the length and breadth of this country such a torrent of innuendos directed against the defenseless dead man and all who were in any way associated with him—such a flood of malevolent abuse directed against the entire motion picture profession of which he was an honored member, as in all the many years in which I have followed the newspaper accounts of criminal cases I have never seen equaled.

In order to disabuse my friends of the idea that they well may derive from the press that Hollywood is a sink of iniquity, peopled exclusively by drug fiends and perverts, I am sending out this circular letter. Please forgive me for not making it personal. Time is precious, and I want to reach you all as quickly as possible, to tell you something about William Taylor, and about Hollywood's "immorality."

COURTEOUS, DIGNIFIED.

I did not have the pleasure of knowing Mr. Taylor socially. I knew him, as I have known so many people in my five years at the Lasky studio, in the way of business. When we passed the time of day when we met on the set, and who had served together on one of two committees. He impressed me as a courteous, dignified Englishman, with a touch of the actor in him, and a touch of the soldier. He was as far as possible from the hard-boiled roughneck with a megaphone that is the type of director popularized by second-rate fiction. He seemed, indeed, more like a college professor!

Until he was dead, I never heard a word of scandal breathed against him. A studio, let me tell you, is a terrible place for gossip. I've heard blistering tales, of varying degrees of credibility, about all sorts of men and women. But—

I never heard that William Taylor was in the argot of the studio, "chicken-chaser," i. e., a pursuer of women.

I never heard that William Taylor was a drug addict.

HIS SECRETS HIS OWN.

That he had changed his name from Tanner to Taylor, that he left his wife in the east, who had divorced him, that he had by her a daughter (whom he supported) were facts, it appears, that were known to the few who were his intimates. But surely he was under no compulsion to share these facts with the world. His affairs were his own. His secrets were his own. He kept them to himself—and in all conscience the world at large, that he barred from his confidence, has taken a terrible revenge upon him for that reticence. It is hard enough that while the good that men do is "interred with their bones," the evil that men do lives after them, but harder measure still is dealt to this poor soul. Not merely the evil that he did but all the evil that can be devised by gross-minded men and women, who itch to climb into cheap melodrama on the shoulders of the dead, is now his monument of obloquy.

May God be more merciful to him than men have been!

RESIDENT SINCE 1916.

As you know, my husband, our little daughter, and I have been living here in Hollywood since 1916. We have seen the pretty town expand, with its amazing erection of minority—and why should a profession be condemned lock, stock and barrel, because of the lapses of the feeblest and frailest of its exponents? At that rate, to be consistent, people should boycott the banks, because of the malodorous Stillman case, cease to employ architects for the ill fame of the late Stanford White, and abolish politicians because of the deceased "Jake" Hanlon.

Of course you are not unfamiliar with that count in the indictment against Hollywood and the motion pictures to which Dreiser (I regret to say?) has lately given currency. "No girl can succeed in pictures, unless she yields herself to the director." This charge, now brought against the pictures as if it were something quite new in iniquity, has been brought with equal plausibility against the opera house, the theater, the department store, the business house, even against our public schools.

I fancy that as long as women are women and men are men, and the power to promote lies in the hands of men, that charge will be brought forward in every art and industry. Unfortunately there will always be some truth in it. I don't believe a girl who is an absolute genius has ever been kept down by disgruntled one. But of two girls of equal intelligence, the one who is nice to her employer—so some cases, nice to the ultimate—is likely to rise faster than the one who is stand-offish; whether the business in which she is employed is making pictures or making pins. Of course it shouldn't be like this, but life isn't a Pollyanna book, and a great many things are that in the beautiful words of Bret Harte, "hadn't ought to be."

THE EASIEST ALIBI.

It should be noticed also that this tale to which Dreiser gives such ready credence: "I couldn't succeed as SHE succeeds, because I wouldn't pay the price," is the easiest alibi in the world for laziness and mediocuity.

One fact I wish to point out before I close this endless letter. We are living in a post-war period, in a world that still is suffering from shell-shock. Read "Ursula Trent," if you haven't already, to see what the reaction from war conditions may do to a girl. Many of our people, especially our younger people, have flown to pleasure, not in Hollywood and Los Angeles alone, but the country over. A freedom of speech and of manner that seems half-raising to those of us who cut our wisdom teeth before 1914 is now the rogue, and to judge by the words from the East and the cries of "Save the flapper," distresses commentators upon men and manners in other circles than in moviedom. Now it must be remembered that many of our people employed in the studios besides our actors and actresses are very young people. To make a good picture one has got to see with young eyes, as D. W. Griffith has already said. We must have youth in this business, and our camera men, our property boys, our girl script clerks, even some of our directors and their assistants, are barely out of adolescence. They take their pleasures (silly pleasure, perhaps) as so many young folk today are taking them, the country over. Los Angeles is not the only city where some of the people jazz till morning and drink perl- camp follower class) lead lives of "sell the paper" to the prurient and by a section of the clergy that have made it easier to fill their places of entertainment. And for the sake of that

1 per cent, the grand decent, law-abiding folk who like myself are residents of Hollywood, leading their quiet lives and bringing up their children, to the best of their ability in the fear of God, are today standered and vilified almost beyond imagination. The 30,000 not 300 genuine

State Highway Suit Dismissed by Court

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28.—The petition for a writ of mandate by which Scott Alexander of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce sought to have the State Highway Commission compelled to build the southern extension of the coast highway through Long Beach instead of inland and around that city, was dismissed by Judge J. Perry Wood of the Los Angeles county Superior Court. The court ruled the inland route was more feasible and added the commissioners had the power to build the thoroughfare whenever it thought proper, unless bad faith was shown.

Dancing Beauty Forsakes Paris For Love of Young American

MAE MURRAY, who as dazzling Cleo of Paris, scores her greatest triumph in "Peacock Alley," and Monte Blue as Elmer Harmon.

Most Sensational Film of the Season Now Being Shown on American Screen

Barry does a dancing darling of the world's greatest stage, George Cram, and the multitude of his multi-talents and stardom of his multi-tude for the love of one man and the disfigurement of a country village.

That, however, is the remarkable picture, one of the most remarkable character of "Peacock Alley," the film sensation of the season, now showing at the American Theater. The picture is adapted from the famous story by Ouida Bergere. Mae Murray, the beautiful blonde actress, enacts the rôle of Cleo and earns a new luster for her remarkable presentation of a difficult rôle.

The picture offers a resplendence of setting that has hardly ever been equalled. Several other attractions are in the bill, including John Wherry Lewis and his orchestra.

OPERA STARS WILL MAKE LESS, WORK MORE, THIS YEAR

Plenty of Talent for Chicago Makes Big Wage Cut Possible.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—(By Associated Press)—Chicago grand opera stars are going to be paid less, and more will be found for them to do. Samuel Insull, new president of the Civic Opera Association, said in an address here last night: "If there were a universal demand for opera stars this year," he said, "we would stand a poor chance of presenting good opera here in Chicago. But we'll have no difficulty in obtaining first-class talent this year. There is no place else for the opera singers to go."

"Economy, whether Mary Garden stays or stays, will be the opera policy," he said.

It was announced that $338,000 of the proposed guarantee fund of $500,000 has already been pledged. The fund is for a five-year period.

Hoboken Welcomes German Ship's Staff

HOBOKEN, N. J., Feb. 28.—Mayor Patrick R. Griffin and the Hoboken city commissioners yesterday received Captain Friederich Bismarck and the staff officers of the North German Lloyd Steamship Sevilitz at the Hoboken city hall. The Sevilitz is the first of the North German Lloyd flagships to enter the harbor since 1914.

Mayor Griffin welcomed the officers, saying he was glad the company had resumed operations and that he was certain that soon the trade relations between the United States and Germany would resume normal proportions.

Electricians Fear Strikers; City Dark

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, Feb. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—Johannesburg was in darkness last night because the workmen in the electric power house refused to work, claiming that they were receiving insufficient protection against the striking miners.

The police took into custody twenty-seven persons, and ten persons are in hospitals, following street fighting.

DE VALERA VOTED DOWN AT DAIL EIREANN SESSION

Griffith, Collins Government Has Working Majority of Six in Test.

DUBLIN, Feb. 28 (By The Associated Press).—Shortly after the Dail Eireann assembled today a division was taken on the ratification of the appointment of Patrick J. Hogan as chief minister of agriculture. The vote was 55 to 50 in his favor.

This was the first show of strength between the Republicans and free states, and it was taken as an indication that the party led by Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins has a working majority of six.

When the Dail met at 11:45 o'clock, Arthur Griffith made a brief ministerial statement, recounting the events since the last meeting of the body and asked for the ratification of ministerial appointments. The appointment of Hogan, Minister of labor was challenged on the ground that he was functioning as labor minister of the provincial government and not of the Dail. This was denied, and the appointment was approved.

Eamon De Valera inquired what the relations were between the Dail minister of education and the provisional government minister of education and asked that the sole minister responsible to the nation should be that of the Dail. As the Dail was the nation's sovereign parliament, he would not consent, he said, to the Dail ministry being merely a nominal one.

Progressive Club to Have New Slogan

President Norman E. Metcalf of the Oakland Progressive Business Club reports that President John W. Marshall and the board of directors of the National organization have just adopted a new constructive program.

"Opposition to excessive legislation will be our main activity," said President Marshall in a recent address. Many other organizations will endorse this plan, it is reported.

National Secretary Leigh H. Irvine has just finished the manuscripts of a book entitled "Too Much Law-Making." An abridged edition will soon reach Oakland Progressives and members of other clubs. Irvine is also editor of a magazine due next month. It will show the need of checking state and national legislation, which runs to the extent of sixteen thousand laws at each session of the legislatures, including Congress.

INDIANS IN PERU SET AGE LIMIT FOR RESIDENTS

Old Men Are Killed Off and Victims Eaten by Rest of Natives, Declared.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 28.—High in the fastnesses of the Andes mountain range of Peru, there is a race which sets an age limit, and kills off all of its people who reach the fatal mark.

This is the statement of Dr. Joseph Barcroft, British scientist and author, who headed an expedition to Peru to study the effect of high altitudes on the oxygen content of the blood. The party spent practically all its time at Cerro de Pasco, mining town of 10,000 inhabitants, 14,200 feet above the sea level.

"In each village," said Dr. Barcroft, "which is delivering a series of lectures at Lowell Institute, an official is appointed to terminate the careers of persons who live too long.

"Different communities, however, seem to have different ideas as to what limit should be placed on human existence. In some places the only duty of the executioner appears to be to secure the presence of a man at his own funeral in the 'title role,' as a person becomes so old that his funeral becomes a certainty in the next few days if a date is fixed for the same, and if the leading figure shows a disposition to be unpunctual, the village executioner takes the matter in hand.

VICTIM IS EATEN.

"Not far from a mine that yields a great part of the world's vanadium, there is, so we are told, a settlement of 'Cholas' (the name by which the natives are designated) who treat this matter on purely economic grounds. The greater the number of the inhabitants becomes too old he is eaten by the community and cheerfully acquiesces in the procedure."

Dr. Barcroft is a fellow and lecturer at King's College, Cambridge University; fellow of the Royal Society, and the author of a widely used text on "The Respiratory Function of the Blood."

CHEW COCA LEAVES.

The Andes natives studied by the party of investigators are of Indian descent, possibly from the Quichua Indians, according to one of the scientists. They live in adobe houses and are said never to replace their children. The household furnishings are so meager that the housewife puts them into a sack and carries them with her every time she goes shopping or visiting.

The natives are very shy and appear to have no diversions aside from chewing coca leaves, from which modern scientists extract cocaine.

The extremely high altitudes at which they live seem not to affect the natives except to furnish them with a barrel-like formation of the chest. They are very strong but move slowly.

Landscape Expert To Lecture Tonight

Because of the illness of Professor John W. Gregg, Landscape Architect Howard Gilkey has been scheduled to take his place as speaker at a lecture tonight to the University of California extension division at the Hotel Oakland. The subject will be "City Planning." Professor Gregg is head of the department of landscape design at the university, and was to have given a scholastic interpretation of the subject. Gilkey, who has been designing improvements for the municipality, will speak from the viewpoint of a city official.

ALAMEDA C. OF C. SUPPORTS BONUS

ALAMEDA, Feb. 28.—The Alameda Chamber of Commerce has gone on record in favor of the Adjusted Compensation Act, following a presentation of the bonus situation by Major Halvor H. Hauch, commander of the American Legion, and C. E. Hickox, army manager, who is also one of the commissioners.

The action of the local chamber in endorsing the present bonus proposal was in direct opposition to the action taken by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and to the attitude assumed by the National Chamber of Commerce. The national organization recently sent out a request for referendum vote upon the adjusted compensation bill by the local chambers throughout the country.

Hickox, who served as a major during the war, explained the provisions of the proposed bill now before Congress and upon motion of Hugh Gallagher, seconded by George H. Fox, the directors endorsed the plan unanimously.

YUKON'S SILVER PRODUCTION IS INCREASING FAST

Klondike Still Holds Record for Production of Gold; Mine Found by Accident.

DAWSON, Y. T., Feb. 28 (By Canadian Press)—Yukon's great silver tide is steadily rising and the Klondike continues the banner gold producing camp of the entire northland, says a thirty-eight page special edition of the Dawson Daily News. Silver mining has progressed at an astonishing rate in the last two years. Fifteen hundred miners, a large proportion of which are Canadian, have been staked. The fifth mine has been staked by companies that hold most of the big producing claims and are devoting their development. A year ago the Yukon Gold Company was the only large organization engaged in quartz mining and exploration at Mayo, but since then two well-known American companies have obtained control of many claims which crews are now developing.

Grounds to Be Beautified and Planting Will Begin When Soil Is Prepared

The Fathers' Association of Washington School made a raid on the old Gill nursery, recently purchased by the board of education, Sunday, requisitioning seventy-five young palm trees, which will be planted in the school grounds. The uncultivated spaces surrounding the Shattuck avenue institution have distressed the dads, whom spring days are moving to garden projects. With no official funds available to accomplish their purpose the men scheduled "labor day" as the first big activity since their organization. A tree-planting day will be celebrated as soon as weather and soil preparation warrants.

Four automobiles were pressed into service to remove the spoils to the school grounds. Fathers declare that Washington gardens are to become famous in the city, even if they must do the work themselves.

To purchase choice rose bushes the association has announced a card party in Lorin hall on March 24. The work of beautifying the gardens will extend through the spring.

ONE PERSON IN EVERY 50 HELD VICTIM OF DOPE

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 28.—

One person in every fifty is addicted to the use of narcotics, declared Canon W. H. Bliss,

president of the Seattle White

Cross, before an audience of nearly 2000 at a meeting of the recently organized Spokane White Cross here last night.

Between four and five billions of dollars are spent yearly by the two million addicts of the country, Canon Bliss said. As treatment for the vice, the speaker said, victim should be placed in pleasant surroundings, giving an inspiration to a better life.

When asked where addicts were to be found, he said:

"They are everywhere; they are in this audience."

Other speakers on the program were Colonel C. C. Ballou, com- mandant of Fort George Wright, and Fred Witt, police court judge.

Alcohol Cache Found In Mill Valley

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—In-vestigation is under way today to determine the ownership of fifty-one five-gallon cans of high-grade grain alcohol found yesterday by prohibition enforcement officers concealed behind a false wall in the garage of Ben Hartwell, in Mill Valley. The theory is held the alcohol either was stolen from the plant of the Marin Bi-Products Company at Sausalito or from a storage unit recently made to Marin Island.

Hartwell is a nephew of the general manager of the Sausalito distillery. According to prohibition enforcement officials he admits possession of the alcohol, but says he merely has been holding it for an Italian. He declined to disclose the identity of this Italian. Hartwell was released after being cross-examined, but may be questioned further, officials said.

A careful check is being made of the Sausalito company's stock of alcohol. This has a proof of 194. The alcohol found in Hartwell's possession is two degrees higher.

Fight Promised on Emeryville Crossing

Receiving a notice that the State Railroad Commission is contemplating an underpass or overhead crossing at the Southern Pacific tracks in Emeryville, City Attorney Leon E. Gray today asserted that he will fight the suggestion that Oakland, Emeryville and the Southern Pacific should pay for it.

The notice to Gray says that the State Railroad Commission will hold a hearing March 10 to determine whether the public safety requires additional safety devices for the grade crossing at the west end of Park avenue, Emeryville, or whether the question should be solved by an overpass or underpass. In the latter case it is announced that Oakland, Emeryville and the railroad might be called upon to bear the financial burden.

"Not if there is any way out," says Gray.

EX-SERVICE MEN OF OAKLAND WILL HOLD BONUS RALLY

Former Soldiers Will Appeal for Public's Aid in Obtaining Federal Relief.

At a meeting of representatives of all ex-service men's organizations in Oakland at the club rooms of Oakland Post No. 5, American Legion, last night plans were completed for the holding of a mass meeting at the auditorium opera house Sunday afternoon, at which time speakers will urge the public to get behind the plan to raise a bonus by the sales tax.

Sunday is the day set by the national office of the Legion for the "Jump Off" in a drive to put over the bonus. The Legion is being assisted by all other ex-service men's organizations, including the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Disabled Veterans of the World War. Business men and citizens will be urged to sign petitions and send telegrams to the Congress and California's representatives in Washington, urging the adoption of the bonus with the sales tax annexed. The service men themselves will flood Congress with telegrams and petitions.

Of the general committee in charge of the mass meeting Sunday, A. W. Chase, commander of Oakland Post No. 5, American Legion, was chosen chairman; C. Hurley of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, vice-chairman, and E. Tower of the Disabled Veterans' secretary. Committees were appointed to make all arrangements.

All ex-service men will gather in uniform, if possible, at the city hall at 2 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, marching in a body to the auditorium. The meeting is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock sharp. Prominent speakers of the state will be on hand to urge the citizens and business men to get behind the bonus plan.

GIRL TIPS GANG 'PLOT' TO MURDER TAYLOR; 6 JAILED

Jilted Maid Tells Sleuths of Hearing Threats to "Get"
Film Director.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28.—By the Associated Press.—Six men were arrested here early today in the aid of what police termed a "mystery." Detectives working on the mystery slaying February 1 of William Desmond Taylor, moving picture director, questioned the men. Police reported belief that the arrests will develop connection with the murder.

The men gave the names of John Mackay, William Kirby, William George Calvert, Ray Lynch, Harry Amorheim.

The arrests followed twenty hours of investigation by police officers on information furnished by police sources which they had referred to as "concerning threats against the life of Taylor uttered shortly before the mysterious killing two days ago."

TAYLOR WAS SLAIN. The six men were arrested upon information furnished the police by Mrs. John Rupp, who said that she kept house for them. According to her story, the six men came from Chicago several months ago. They were engaged, she informed the police, according to their reports, in distributing liquor and drugs.

Two days before the shooting of Taylor, the police learned she informed them Kirby and Calvert uttered threats against the film director for "injuring their business." These two, she said, were extremely nervous on the night of February 1 and were away from the place during the early evening, and both stayed up all night. This was the night upon which the murder of Taylor was committed.

Kirby and Calvert are known to the police and police said they believed the men were wanted in Chicago. Finger prints of the six will be taken and despatched to Chicago for identification.

GIRL TELLS OF THREAT TO "GET" TAYLOR.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28.—(By International News Service).—Six men, alleged members of a gang of bootleggers, "tipped off" to the police, who were arrested at a house in West Washington street early today and booked at a police station, where they were held while detectives investigated information directing suspicion of the William Desmond Taylor, slain film director, against them.

The men were booked on suspicion of robbery. Officers admitted, however, that the men were being held for investigation in the Taylor case.

JILED 6 TIPS OFF

Suspicion of the Taylor murder was directed against the men by the story told the Wilshire police, by the girl who "tipped off" the gang. She declared that she heard of the man under arrest as a threat to "kill Taylor" the night before Taylor was slain.

The girl said she gave her information concerning the gang because one of its members, her sweetheart, had "turned her down."

Two members of the gang named by the girl were questioned concerning their whereabouts on the night Taylor was slain.

The girl declared that the threat against Taylor was made because he had announced he intended to cause the arrest of the bootleggers and expose their activities in motion picture studios. She said the men were in her presence to "get" Taylor and that their threats were made on January 31, the day before Taylor was slain.

As soon as the girl, whose name was withheld, had told her story, the detectives hurried to the West Washington street address. The girl said the men had been in hiding since the Taylor slaying. She said she had quarreled with the man who was her sweetheart, and that was the reason she gave her information.

At the place where the men were arrested the detectives seized a quantity of evidence, which they examined. They declined to state what this evidence was, but indicated that it was important in connection with the investigation.

The girl said the men had operated as a bootlegging outfit in Los Angeles for several months and had sold liquor to Taylor and his friends. Taylor's threat to expose the gang, she said, was made after he had quarreled with one of the bootleggers.

Each of the men offered an alibi, denying all knowledge of the slaying and declaring no threats were ever made to kill Taylor, as the girl claimed.

The theory that Taylor may have been killed by bootleggers has never been excluded in the investigation of the murder case. Several pairs of glasses, which had contained a concoction of gin and orange juice, were found on the dining-room table at the Taylor home when Taylor's body was discovered.

From Flagstaff, Ariz., came reports that Police Chief O'Neill had discovered that a man answering the description of Edward F. Sands, sought as a suspect in the case, was in Flagstaff two days after the Taylor murder and had left there for Mexico.

CALEXICO, Feb. 28.—A detail of sheriff's deputies of Imperial county, headed by Deputy Sheriff William C. Miller, today joined with Colonel Francisco Avila, Inspector of police of the northern district of Lower California, in a search being conducted in Mexicali for Edward F. Sands, long-sought suspect in the William D. Taylor murder mystery. The sheriff's office at El Centro acted on a "tip" that is said to have emanated from the Los Angeles sheriff's office to the effect that Sands had crossed the International line at Tijuana and headed east to Mexicali over the Mexican military highway.

Soothing and Healing

For Cuts, Burns, Scalds

ALAMEDA, Feb. 28.—Continued ill health and despondency are given as the cause of the suicide yesterday of Mrs. Imogene Kirk Malinard, wife of William P. Malinard, Concord rancher. Mrs. Malinard ended her life at the home of her mother, Mrs. Julia Kirk, 1737 Santa Clara avenue, by shooting herself through the head.

Mrs. Kirk, who was 35 years of age, had been ill for a long time. Last Tuesday she visited her mother. No one heard the fatal shot fired.

The body was discovered by F. W. Carey, a San Francisco real estate operator, who had been conferring with Mrs. Kirk over a property transfer. He had volunteered to carry a tray of food upstairs. Entering the room he found Mrs. Malinard lying on the floor and the revolver near by. Carey called Dr. W. O. Smith, who pronounced the woman dead.

Prior to coming to Alameda, Mrs. Malinard had lived in Fresno, where she was educated and where she was well known socially. Thomas Kirk, her father, had been state superintendent of schools at one time. The family at that time resided in Sacramento. Several years ago a brother ended his life in Ne-

BODY OF MAN WHO DIED IN 1792 KEPT AS MUMMY

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28.—The mummified body of a fat man, an early resident of Philadelphia, is being preserved at the Wistar Institute of Anatomy and Physiology as a rare example of a adipocere, a substance which is a soft waxy mass resembling soap. According to officials the man was Wilhelm

Von Ellenger, who lived in the city when it was the capital of the United States and George Washington was president. In 1793 Von Ellenger fell victim to the yellow fever plague and was buried in a Potter's field, and the body lay in the moist soil of the field gradually converted the body into an adipocere mummy, and when the field was turned into a public square the body was exhumed by workmen and identified.

Dr. Henry H. Donaldson of the Wistar Institute staff, said recently that the mummified condition, while not common, sometimes occurs when many bodies are buried together and that the specimen, while "not unique, is unusually good."

The mummies of three Egyptians which occupy a place at the Institute with Von Ellenger are not as well preserved as the latter. They were accounted for in that they were dried while being mummified and the tissues shrank

Whistled Black Wife FOLKS AND about THINGS

MEETING THE REAL AMERICA.
Dinners and luncheons, and breakfasts, and tea—all for the foreign correspondents. Washington has been eating itself nearly to death. Next a Frenchman, the other day, and he told us about it. "Mon Dieu," said my friend Frenchman, "is it that the Americans eat? I tell the world they eat!"

Such a breakfast! Hot coffee and a little hard bread, as we do in Paris, but then fruit and eggs and bacon, and cakes with the sweet on the cakes, and coffee of a strength, and the cream of a richness, and—in a few minutes again—Junction, with the oyster cocktail and the salad. Oh, la, la!

"HOW FRENCH!"

My friend the Frenchman threw an airy kiss to the very memory of the salad, a dozen kinds to choose from, and the chicken and the ice cream. "Toujours the ice cream," Ma foi. I have never heard of so many of the ice creams.

"Then, and after tea dinner, and late again supper, and everybody laugh and make as if it is nothing."

And at all hours you can get this food in the American hotel. "With us, we have stated hours for meals, and the dining room is closed, and you can't pray on your knees that there is, as you so deliciously say, 'no to be done,' but all the same, I am a little honest for that dear Paris, and my aperture—understand."

The English delegates couldn't get over the American food.

"There's so much of it," said my friend, the Englishman, "and a good deal of it is really very decent. Of course, your beef isn't like ours, nor your mutton. And, I must say, I prefer a boiled fowl to so much of this broiled chicken. And if I could only get a good pudding now and then! I don't care so much for your eternal ices and ice creams. You have the French cooking, don't you? We thought we should find something typically American. Of course, there's a greater variety here, and more of everything. Fancy having ripe tomatoes in midwinter, and pineapples whenever you like, but I never realized before how French you Americans are—in the way of food and clothes, too, I think. Don't you agree with me?"

WOULDN'T IT BE NICE.

Of course, I didn't agree with him at all.

Why doesn't some one open somewhere a nice little American tavern or inn and at that tavern give people real American food, not ala French or imitation English—but American?

Corn bread, and hot biscuits, and Sally Lun, and friend chicken, and mashed potatoes, and mixed pickles and peach preserves, and cherry pie, and short cake, lemon meringue, and turkey stuffed with nuts and apples, and fried pork and fried apples, and hominy and greens.

Why don't some of our big hotels make a specialty of typically American breakfasts and dinners?

We have the best hotels and more of them than any other nation in the world—we Americans. And I wonder if it ever strikes our visiting foreigners that we never have any American cooks or American waiters, and very seldom any American chambermaids anywhere in an American hotel.

Me, wonder it, it's the tipping that does it.

Any real American really likes to think that he really will take a tip and look pleasant about it. But, oh, the hordes of tip-grabbing servants that fairly swarm in our American hotels.

Wouldn't it be nice if we could have one or two really American places of public entertainment—just for fun?

I wonder if we who travel abroad as little of the real France and the real England as visitors from other countries see of the real America when they come here.

things are observed rather painful. Good people, with all sorts of virtues, but sedate, to say that least.

I entered the dinner date in my engagement book. One night as I came home from the theatre, I found several messages from that family. I called them up and with a worried expression they asked me why my wife and I had failed to put in an appearance. Although I had copied the date from their letter which I found afterwards, I had managed to enter it on my engagement pad for the next day. I really never cared to accept that invitation and so I did not immediately a rude procedure on my part.

SUMMER SQUASH.

The highly cultivated squash in modern gardens bears little resemblance to its ancestor, the gourd, except in fantastic shapes. Since wider attention has recently been given to squash cooking, more interest has become evident in selecting for planting just the right varieties to use as dinner vegetables.

There are now available in most markets half a dozen kinds of summer squash, besides the three best—yellow and Boston marrow. Besides the round, yellow, white, bush, yellow crookneck, white, Italian long green with yellow stripes, and the elongate from the south are some of the interesting varieties. Some are bush and others are vine growers.

There are also several kinds of vegetable marrow that belong to the summer squash family.

The winter squash usually grows in the corn fields with the pumpkins, the rest grow in the kitchen garden.

The only summer squash which can be used for cooking is the yellow crookneck, when perfectly ripe.

Many persons prefer steaming squash rather than boiling it, which is just a matter of choice.

Scalloped Squash.

After boiling and mashing, add the same seasoning as described for the fresh squash, with the addition of the juice of an onion, half a cupful of crumbs to each squash used, a beaten egg and a little cream. Fill buttered ramekins and dust with grated cheese. Bake 20 to 25 minutes.

Stuffed Squash.

The Zucchini is best for this dish in summer, and the Hubbard squash in winter. Cut the squash in half, lengthways. With a sharp spoon or a potato scoop, cut out the flesh, leaving a quarter of an inch wall. Oil or butter over the shell, inside and out. Drop the balls into fast-boiling water. Boil until tender, when a straw is stuck into the pieces, they will be slightly cool. Put a layer of the balls inside the shell, then a layer of chopped onion mixed with crumbs, seasoning and a little chopped cold, boiled ham. Proceed until the shell is filled, dot with butter, dust with grated cheese and pour in a small cupful of rich stock in which an egg has been beaten. Bake from 20 to 25 minutes. Tomato sauce may be used in place of the stock, if desired.

After boiling and mashing, add the same seasoning as described for the fresh squash, with the addition of the juice of an onion, half a cupful of crumbs to each squash used, a beaten egg and a little cream. Fill buttered ramekins and dust with grated cheese. Bake 20 to 25 minutes.

Answer to Yesterday's.

The paying teller stacked his 500 dollars into piles as follows: 1, 2, 4, 8, 16, 32, 64, 128, and 256. The last two piles might be 128 and 246 had it not been required to have the largest possible number in one pile.

My Dear Jerry

I like the comments you made upon the letter signed "Oswald." Your sayings were splendid. Jerry, and to my notion, you handled the situation as best one could. There was so much one could say, so much one could do, but what you did, I like.

"I don't hear any noise child," laughed the rabbit lady. "What are you talking about?"

"I'm the little squeaky noise my needle makes when I push it through the cloth," went on Susie.

"You see I'm sewing a new dress for my doll, Diantha Louise Applepudding, and maybe the squeaking of the needle will make her hear me."

"Nonsense," laughed Mrs. Littletail.

"I didn't even hear it, Susie, my dear. Go on with your sewing."

"I'm the little squeaky noise my mother's needle makes when she uses it often," said Susie, giving her mother a pet name she often used.

"I guess I'll go over to Uncle Wiggly's and finish making Diantha's dress there. I'm not so good a seamstress, and maybe another will be home. It's most always I am out looking for adventures."

"Oh, my dear! My dear!" laughed Mrs. Littletail, and she pushed the needle through the doll's new dress, a few times, then the voice of Uncle Wiggly.

"Mother's needle might bother you," Motherkins," said Susie, giving her mother a pet name she often used.

"I guess I'll go over to Uncle Wiggly's and finish making Diantha's dress there. I'm not so good a seamstress, and maybe another will be home. It's most always I am out looking for adventures."

"Well, anyhow, I guess I'll go to Uncle Wiggly's," said Susie.

It was a mild winter day, overcast, there was a soft snow on the ground, and Susie was soon hopping over this on her way to the hollow bungalow of the bunny rabbit.

"Well, anyhow, I guess I'll go to Uncle Wiggly's," said Susie.

ALL SEDAN CARS TO BE CHECKED IN SLAYER HUNT

Police Determined to Capture Driver Who Killed Trained Nurse.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—Police detectives, with a good description of the death car in their possession, were canvassing all of the city's garages today in an effort to locate the automobile which Sunday night ran down and fatally injured Miss Olive Findlay, nurse of 1105 Larkin street.

While detectives were endeavoring to apprehend the driver who ran away after the accident, it was announced that in San Francisco alone twenty persons have been killed and one hundred and fifty-six injured in automobile accidents since the first of the year. These figures were given by Captain Henry Gleeson, head of the police traffic bureau, and determined to prevent a repetition of the large automobile casualty list since of the entire bay region contained their war day against reckless drivers, speeders and all violators of the automobile laws.

Three witnesses who saw Miss Findlay struck down as she was crossing Van Ness avenue at Eddy street shortly before 8 o'clock Sunday night, have been interviewed by Detectives Alan McGinn and George Collins working on the case, and furnished the police with the description of the car. The witnesses were Russell N. Lockwood, his wife, 1025 Geary street, and H. H. Brown, 3722 Sutter street. Although they were unable to get the license number of the fleeing car, all were certain as to the type and make of the machine.

The car was a sedan and a make which is not frequently seen in this type, according to detectives, and for this reason they expect to be able to that the machine was traveling at a rate of more than 50 miles per hour, and there was apparently no excuse for running down Miss Findlay. If the canvass of the garages fails to uncover the driver, the detectives say, they intend to obtain from the state automobile registration bureau a list of all sedan cars of the make identified by the witnesses and begin a systematic check-up of each individual.

General orders directing all members of the department to learn where cars of this make and type were owned and kept, were issued by Police Chief Dan J. O'Brien, so that detectives assigned to the case may inspect them.

Destroyer Sailings For Orient Delayed

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—Naval orders canceling the prospective movement of destroyer division No. 13 from San Francisco about March 1 for the Far East, have been received at Pacific fleet headquarters on the U. S. S. California, it was announced today. The navy department has also delayed indefinitely the sailing of the collier Jason to the east coast.

Almost all athletic and gunnery training has been suspended while the ships are in San Francisco bay, the visit being principally for machinery upkeep and overhaul and for recreation of the men.

LONDON PAINTER DEAD.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Bernard Walter Evans, the landscape painter, died yesterday. He was 78 years old. He originated the City of London Society of Artists and was a member of the Royal Institute of Painters in Water Colors. Evans represented English art at the St. Louis Exposition in 1903-04.

PARENTAL SCHOOL PROJECT FAVERED

Social welfare and educational leaders are lending a strong support to the project of a local parental or 24-hour day school. The movement to found such an institution was launched several weeks ago at a conference of educators, police chiefs and social workers called by the Big Sisters of the Public Welfare League to consider the problems of delinquency and offer some practical remedy to meet the situation.

Endorsement has been given by the Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs. Other organizations are studying the project and will take action within a few days.

A parental school is a necessity, according to Miller Sheddiger, Alameda county superintendent. He claims its establishment would save money for the city. Irregularity in attendance upon school is the first step in a boy's downfall, Sheddiger reviews in calling attention to the fact that Alameda county has 550 children on probation and 200 in correctional institutions, 73 per cent of the number come from Oakland. Discipline, education and vocational education would be combined in the work of the institution where the children would live.

The wants of Oakland, Berkeley, and Alameda need to be considered for the parental school, as there exists small need of such an institution in other parts of the county, according to David Martin, county superintendent of schools. Its creation is largely a question of finance, he explains. Martin advises the three cities to pool their interests and work out a feasible plan.

MISS FREDDA BRINDLEY favorite at the Bishop Playhouse some years ago, who was married yesterday in New York.

Talented Actress, Former Favorite Here, and Actor Are Married.

Mrs. Fredda Mirella Brindley, wife at the old Bishop Playhouse in Oakland and well known in the Bay region as an actress of much charm and beauty, was married yesterday afternoon in Syracuse, N. Y., to John E. Kellard, noted Shakespearean actor, according to a telegram received today by the bride's mother, Mrs. Gretta F. Brindley, 5555 Chabot road.

Miss Brindley, who is 24, appeared at the Bishop Playhouse some years ago. Kellard, while in the bay region, witnessed her act and gave her an engagement with the Shakespearean company as understudy to the leading lady. The star was later taken ill, and Miss Brindley stepped into her place, which she has held ever since. Since that time the young actress has met with success wherever she appeared. Kellard recently closed a Shakespearean repertoire in the Middle West. He is 52 and lives in New York.

According to the bride's relatives here, it is not believed that she will leave the stage.

Away From U. S. 30 Years, Woman Balks at Voting

In the State of Queensland, Australia, they threaten you with all sorts of dire penalties if you refuse to vote. But I am an old-fashioned American woman, who left the United States before this new-fangled women's franchise came into being. And when they tried to force it upon me, I refused. Australia, I just rebelled and told the authorities that I would never vote—not even if I had married a British subject. A woman with a vote—what is the world coming to these days?"

Such are the cogitations which were put into words yesterday by Mrs. E. G. Tenney, of Sydney, Australia, as she returned after an absence of thirty years, on the liner Tahiti of the Union Steamship Company.

At a hotel in San Francisco Mrs. Tenney ordered a room facing the street, saying that she wished to sleep once again with the roar of an honest-to-goodness American city in her ears, after all these years.

Mrs. Tenney tells of the doings of the Labor Government in Australia, and she does not spare the harsh words of the authorities that I would never vote:

"The Labor Government has done one good thing—it has taken care of the returned Australian soldiers. Each returned soldier received approximately $3000 from the government, with which to set himself up in business, or to buy a ranch. This sum, however, is not a free gift, but a loan, which bears no interest, and which is repayable to the government after twenty years."

HAYWARD

HAYWARD, Feb. 28.—A campaign to secure members for the farm bureau has begun in the three as yet untouched districts in Alameda county, according to Russell Robinson, county agricultural agent here. WHITE'S INTRODUCED.

HAYWARD, Feb. 28.—A very entertaining and enjoyable "Clarence" was introduced to Hayward last night by the members of the Hayward stock company in their benefit for wounded soldiers given in Native Sons' hall. A large delegation of Hayward citizens made their acquaintance with the comedy and left so well pleased that its second and final presentation this evening is already an assured financial success.

and to bring draped over the portrait of Abraham Lincoln. Two of those twelve men, 85 years of age and all irretrievably in the class known as old, yet their snap to attention was youthful, their salute most military and their answer to roll call brisk.

Officers of the league are: Commander C. P. Hinds; vice-commander, A. T. Geandrot, and adjutant, Dr. W. F. Lewis.

TRADE IN THE PACIFIC.

Never before has it been of such pressing importance that American commerce and business be assured of equal opportunities in foreign fields. Business and industrial interests are at present much concerned over the discrimination that is being worked against them in Asiatic Turkey, Mesopotamia and Persia by British, French and Italian governmental and business agencies. These interests have protested to the Washington government and Ambassador Harvey at London has been instructed to make proper representations to the British government and also to make these charges the basis of most careful scrutiny of the proceedings of the economic and financial conference of the Allied council of ambassadors to be held in Paris during March.

Concessions and semi-government contracts in the areas mentioned, which are the subjects of mandates from the League of Nations, are cutting off American enterprises and threatening to drive Americans out of Turkey and Mesopotamia in particular.

Unfortunately complaints are not filed and the government does not initiate action until the harm is worked, perhaps irreparable harm. The better time to investigate and take preventive action is before American business has been injured by unfair tactics from foreign competitors.

At present a more important territory for strict attention both by the government and American business and trading interests is in the Pacific. A survey by the Department of Commerce of foreign trade operations for the calendar year of 1921 show that the United States did a pretty good business, all circumstances considered, with the countries washed by the Pacific ocean during the last twelve months. There was generally a falling off from the high peak of 1920, but our trans-Pacific trade is in a very much better condition than it was in 1913-14.

The exports from the United States to China for the year 1921 were $103,290,435, which is an enormous increase over the $24,872,745 of 1913-14, although a considerable drop from the $145,737,321 of 1920, when the high price of silver tended to increase the buying power of the Chinese and to stimulate imports of all kinds.

The Hongkong market always closely reflects Chinese conditions, as a very large part of the trade consists in transhipments to and from China. Our exports for 1920 to Hongkong were valued at $25,307,851, and decreased in 1921 to $18,725,912, which was still a substantial increase over the $11,035,608 of 1913-14.

While there has been a great decrease in our exports to Japan, from the $377,911,926 of 1920 to the $235,423,679 of 1921, the latter figure is a very great increase over the $51,205,520 of 1913-14. Japan has been buying of us large quantities of raw cotton, iron and steel, machinery, foodstuffs, paper, and a great variety of manufactured articles, principally in connection with the increasing growth of manufacturing. Business in Japan during the war was flourishing, and when the tendency to liquidation began the government and financial interests together endeavored to check the decrease in prices and to prevent the sale of commodities at greatly reduced figures. This policy decreased very materially the purchases of Japan in other countries.

The unfavorable exchange conditions in Australia, together with a decrease in our purchases from that country, are largely responsible for the drop in our export figures from $119,778,178 in 1920 to $82,756,378 in 1921, although this figure is nearly double the $845,775,216 which we sold in 1913-14. While exports to Australia were $27,021,800 less in value in 1921 than in 1920, they were $836,981,162, or 80 per cent greater than in the pre-war year 1913-14, showing that the United States, under all the adverse conditions of 1921, has held remarkably well the position in the Australian trade attained during the war years.

The factors affecting the trade of New Zealand are substantially the same as in Australia, and are responsible for the drop in exports to that country from the United States from $18,748,014 in 1920 to $28,071,813 in 1921, an astonishing increase over the $8,594,688 of 1913-14.

The decrease in exports to India from the $99,827,517 of 1920 to the $26,769,598 of 1921 is not wholly unsatisfactory when this latter figure is compared with our exports of $10,966,651 in 1913-14. Trade in the Straits Settlements is very largely dependent on the prices received for rubber and tin. The prosperity of these industries in 1920 caused exports to this country of $18,938,738, while the great depression in the purchases of the world of rubber and tin and the consequent throwing of many laborers out of employment occasioned a drop to $7,158,392 in 1921, but this was still nearly double the $1,263,274 of 1913-14.

General conditions in the Dutch East Indies are dependent on a wide variety of raw products, the principal one of which is sugar. The depression in these commodities is responsible for the drop in our exports to the Dutch possessions from the $59,018,192 of 1920 to the $32,340,408 of 1921, but this latter figure is a very great increase over the $33,578,161 of 1913-14.

These exports, as well as the imports of raw material needed in American manufacturing have meant much business for the American manufacturer and trader, as they have meant much work for the wage earner. The time to retain the volume of exports to foreign countries and to take the largest advantage of the wide introduction American products have obtained is the present. Many Pacific ports, notably those around San Francisco bay, will enjoy increased prosperity if this is done.

UNITED ACTION NEEDED.

Five persons were killed and twenty-four injured in automobile accidents in the bay district Sunday. Police authorities again talk of a drastic war on speeders and reckless drivers. Now let the police have a little co-operation from the police judges of the entire bay district, whether they act as trial judges or committing magistrates.

The laws designed and enacted for the protection of the public should be interpreted for the protection of the public and not for the special protection of the outlaw man killers.

PRINCESS MARY'S CHOICE.

Princess Mary of England, who today became the bride of Viscount Lascelles, has vastly increased her popularity with the English people. That is interesting, by the way, but of greater significance is the precedent the King's daughter has established for British royalty of the last century or two. Her husband is not of royal blood. A member of the household of a distinguished peer, it is true, but not of that lineage which has been accustomed to provide husbands for princesses royal.

In this marriage the world is permitted to observe a reaction of the war and its consequences. European royal houses lost something of the prestige which they previously had enjoyed by an assumption not always gracious. Royal houses became commonplace, because the great commonality of the belligerent nations became the sole arbiters of power and of national existence. Those reigning houses which had the good sense to yield to the representative government of the people survived, the others were destroyed, cast from power, with the heads of the dynasties either murdered or in exile.

Royalty saw the fiction of the divine right of kings destroyed utterly. They saw kings and princes occupy in certain instances roles so ignoble that the lowliest of the "plebeians" would suffer by comparison. Thus the Princess Royal of England was not obliged to have a match made for her with a member of some other royal house; she chose to marry one of her own countrymen. It is a good example, a good precedent. And rather sensible.

HONEST COLLEGE MEN AND WOMEN.

For twenty-five years the University of Michigan has been lending money to deserving boy and girl students, and the managers of the loan funds are able to say that "not one cent has ever been lost by wilful failure of the borrower to pay."

The money is lent principally to boys and girls who are working their way through the university schools. The funds are managed by the treasurer of the university, who is guided in their distribution by the recommendations of the deans. No single loan of more than $100 is made, and the borrower usually binds himself or herself to pay the debt with interest at 5 per cent inside of a year after graduation.

The students who borrow this money are, of course, of a picked class; they are serious and hard working; by their conduct they have won the confidence of their instructors. They are not typical of youths who go to college merely because it is the proper or desirable thing to do. Such honest and conscientious students form an important part of the undergraduate body in every university in the country.

The public hears little about these students while they are in college. They do not have time to do the things that get college students' names in the newspapers. The public does hear about them in the later part of their lives, for the honest, plodding, determined, industry and straightforwardness they display in getting their educations put them in the front rank of useful citizens when they leave school work for life work.

When the habits, practices and manners of college students are again denounced as they inevitably will be denounced, a reservation should be made for the students whose sense of honor is preserved in the fine records of the University of Michigan loan funds, records which might be matched at many other great seats of learning.

DAILY ALMANAC

Tuesday, February 28.

Today we jump off the short end of February into March. . . . It is a skinny month, but was full of weather. . . . There are a lot of dates lost somewhere between today and tomorrow morning. . . . What are we to do with those who have their birthday on February 29? . . . There were battles fought on the day, dreams built, and hopes born. . . . On the 28th, however, we carry that that much happened. . . . A cannon called "Peacemaker" exploded on the steamer Princeton in 1843 and killed several prominent men. . . . The Battle of Sacramento was fought in 1847. . . . It was not a session of the legislature, but a fight in Mexico.

If the people of the whole State would chip in to give Oakland a stadium, now, or you one, or I? We wonder if we would look a gift like that in the bleachers and if we would make the cracked old welkin ring with well-phrased protest. After Berkeley had played ring toss with the great hoop the regents of the university, fearful perhaps that it might settle over the campanile, have decided the question. The stadium will be in Strawberry Canyon and the kids of the East Bay can sit on the nearby slopes and see the games for nothing. The decision, it is agreed, was for the greatest good to the greatest number.

Cabaret singers of Montmartre are "up in arms in defense of freedom of song." For years it has been their habit to sing in doubtful verse, the peculiarities of celebrated Frenchmen, to poise a lifting fan at policies, and to wrangle a heady satire at things in general. Now they have been told to eliminate certain strains, particularly one which has to do with the misadventures of English agents in Sicily. The League of Nations and the various brotherly confederations are beginning a fellowship which will not stand for the Montmartre party.

It may be that the singers are justified in their protest, and if so who would deny them the right. In the meantime, let us all be ready to strike back when the American singers follow this French lead.

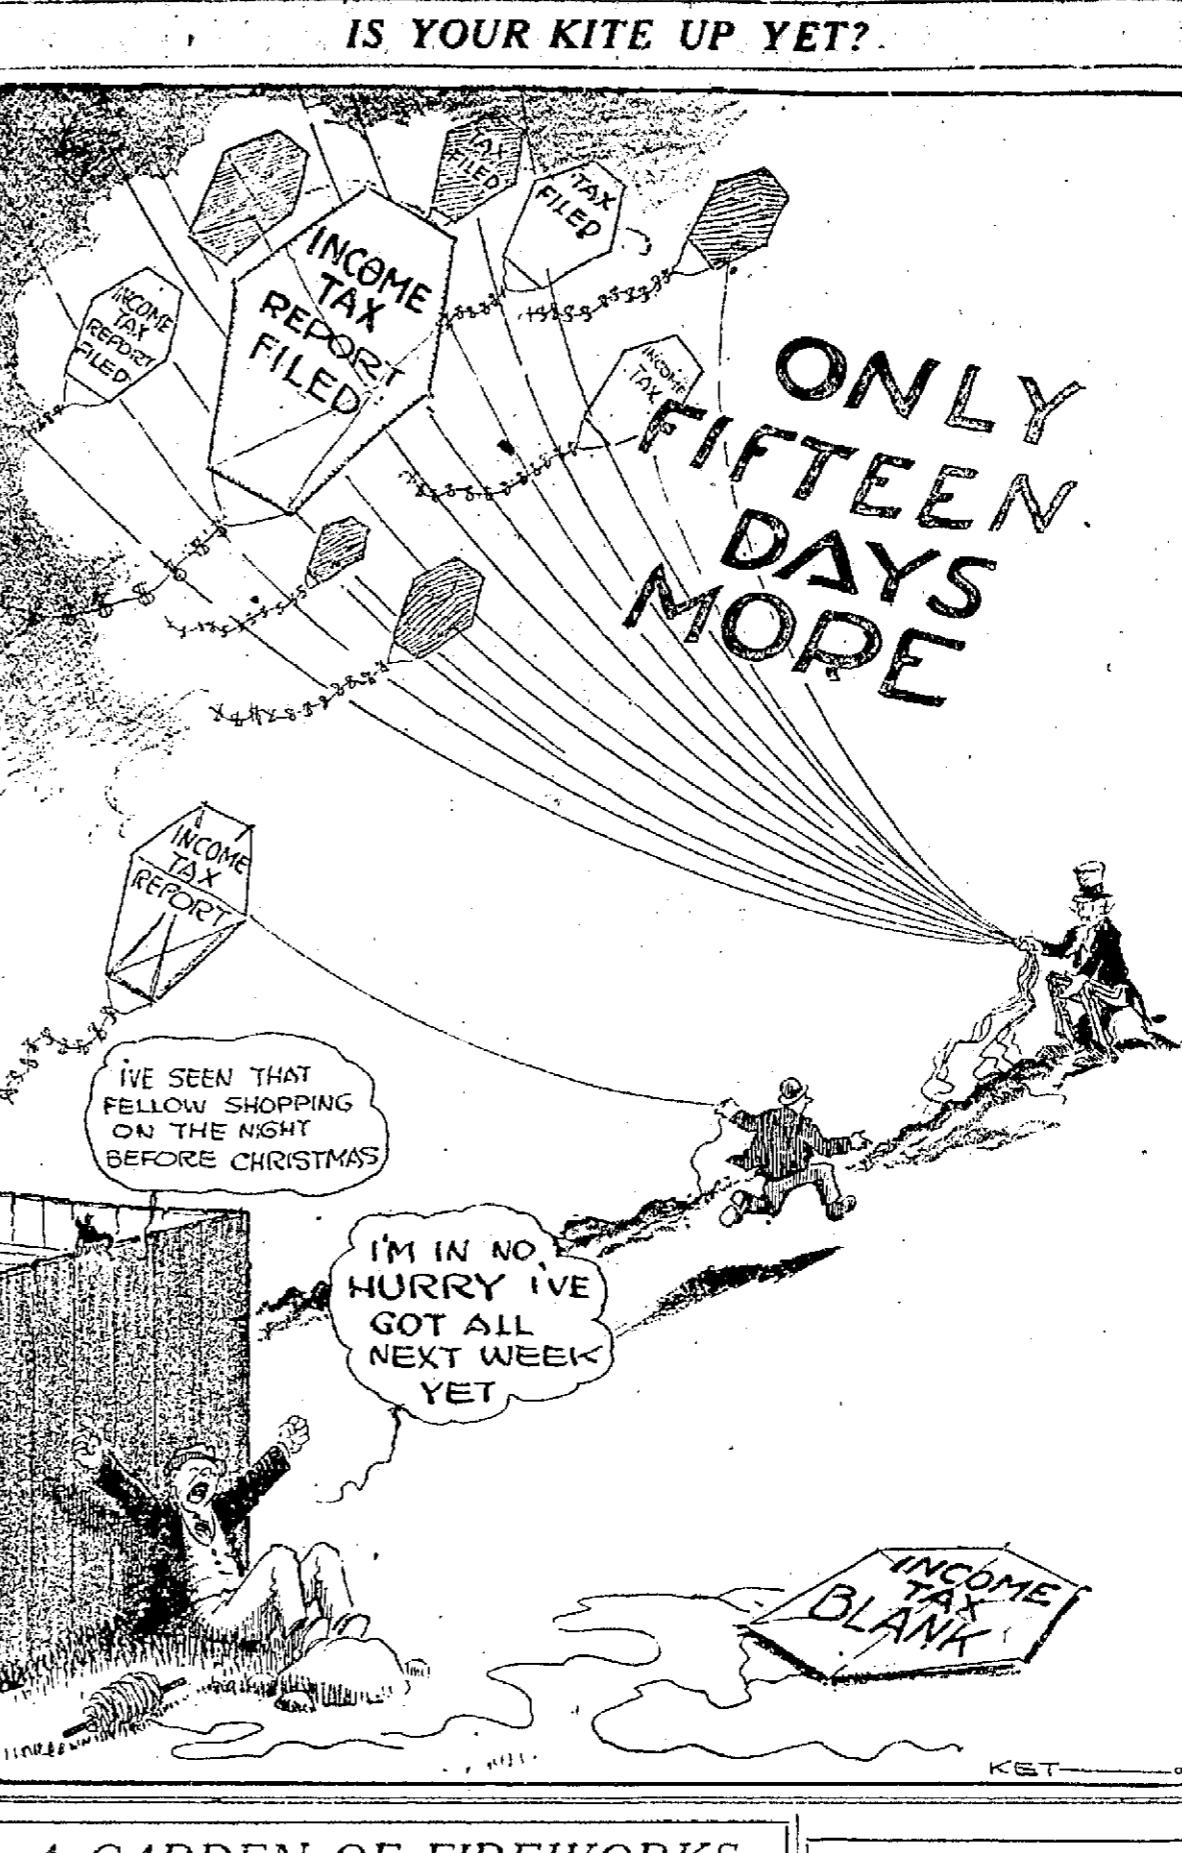

What is needed here is an organized protest against entertainers who sing with their shoulders and who rhyme "baby mine" with "summer time."

It is the public's duty to denounce the students who are again denounced as they inevitably will be denounced, a reservation should be made for the students whose sense of honor is preserved in the fine records of the University of Michigan loan funds, records which might be matched at many other great seats of learning.

A GARDEN OF FIREWORKS

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

FRIENDS.

There was sunshine in the valley and the roses were in bloom. The skies were blue above me, but I walked the place in gloom. I was sad and discontented in a garden that was fair. For with all the joy about me, not a friend of mine was there.

I have traded right that minute all the fields where violets grow and the balmy summer breezes for a sight of northern snow.

For the beauty of the blossoms had but little charm for me.

It was friendly, smiling faces I was hungering to see.

Oh, what are scenes of beauty when your friends are far away, and who could like a garden if alone he had to stay?

Though the skies are blue above you there can be no peace of mind. And scenes of richest splendor if you've left your friends behind.

So I'll gladly brave the blizzard and I'll tramp the snowy street, for at every turn and corner there are smiling friends to meet;

And though far away is sunshine, I find happiness depends, not on sky or trees or roses, but on being with your friends.

STUBBS OF KANSAS.

The announcement that Walter R. Stubbs, of Lawrence, former governor of Kansas, will run for governor in the Republican primaries, may be expected soon. It is a refreshing piece of news. Stubbs is a giant in the race. He brings to the situation the experience of the governor who made the pioneer fight for the big things and good things which gave Kansas leadership among the States of the nation. He comes out independent of any faction or clique or crowd in the Republican party. He has just gone through a terrible business experience, in which as a cattleman he lost all his fortune. His experience has taught him much.

Borrowed Plumage

About once in so often I hear one which has the double merit of being good and being true. I personally vouch for the authenticity of the offering which follows:

I know a Kentucky lawyer, a brilliant man, who outgrew the small town where he was reared and where he began the practice of his profession. An offer came to him to go to Chicago and become the attorney for a big lumber concern. He went, taking his family with him.

Always he had lived comfortably but in a simple fashion as was befitting his original environment. But he felt the position he now occupied called for more display than formerly. So he rented a large house and installed a staff of servants, including a colored butler. On his first day of service the butler came to his new master for instructions.

"Mister Blank," he asked in his most butlerified manner, "does you desire me to wear my full dress suit ever night at dinner?"

"Well, no," said the Kentuckian, "on nights when we have company I'd like for you to lend it to me."

ROYAL SAMOANS
CARRY LUGGAGE
FOR AMERICANS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28—To have your girls carried by royalty is a very uncommon experience, but such has been the fortune of Mr. and Mrs. T. North, who arrived today in San Francisco on the steamer Ventura from Australia. It all happened at Pago-Pago, when the Norths went ashore and when a number of Samoan chieftains, who were working as convicts, were ordered to carry their luggage. These men, North said, are the Samoan chieftains who governed a few months ago. North also stated that he was highly amused over the fact that although the Samoans did not wear clothes, they are tattooing the appearances of clothes on their bodies. He also stated that a number of the Samoans are now dying their hair a brick red color with a certain kind of native dye.

North has been to Australia to establish a circuit of American deville, and he also took the Dempsey-Carpentier fight pictures out.

Many members of the organization from San Francisco are expected to attend. The committee on arrangements includes Frank M. Flynn, chairman; Gerald Brusher,

LENTEN PERIOD TO BEGIN TOMORROW
ASH WEDNESDAY

Solemn Observance of Day
Arranged in Catholic Circles.

Tomorrow, Ash Wednesday, the beginning of the Lenten season will be observed by a large number of the churches in the city. In Roman Catholic circles the chief ceremonial of the day will consist of the distribution of the ashes of palms left over from the previous year. These ashes form a reminder of the potential nature of Lent.

Special Lenten services of the day will be made at St. Mary's Catholic church, Eighth and Jefferson streets. Three services will be held tomorrow morning, consisting of masses at 7 a. m., 9 a. m. and 12 o'clock. The blessed ashes will be distributed after the 9 and 12 o'clock services and also after the evening service. The 12 o'clock service is being given with the intention of giving working men and women an opportunity to attend Ash Wednesday devotions during the lunch hour.

In the evenings there will be special devotions, a service on the spirit of Lent, the distribution of ashes and the Lenten Lecture.

During Lent special services, sermon and benediction will be held on Sunday, Wednesday and Friday evenings at St. Mary's. At 3:15 on Friday afternoon there will be stations of the cross and benediction for the school children and any adults who are unable to attend the evening services.

BURTON A. JASTRAM Jr., today brought suit against M. D. Nichols for $5,000 damages for personal injuries sustained on October 13, 1921, when he was knocked down and run over by Nichols' automobile. The accident occurred on Oak Grove avenue near College while the boy was riding a bicycle in the street.

The trial today was marked with wavy clashes between Ticey L. Ford, attorney for the plaintiff, and William H. L. Hynes, attorney for the defense, which caused Judge St. Sure to interfere several times.

MAJOR AND MINOR LEAGUE BALL CLUBS HAVE STARTED TRAINING IN EARNEST FOR SEASON

OAK MOUNDSEmen ARE IN GREAT TRIM AFTER TWO WEEKS TRAINING

Baseball Teams All Over Country Have Hit Places Where They Loosen Up Joints.

By EDDIE MURPHY.

With the first day of March just a matter of hours away, the spring training season for the baseball clubs all over the country is practically under way. Dozens of major and minor league ball clubs have already entered their training camps, while some are on their way and others are all set to go. As usual, the Pacific Coast League clubs were first to hit the road to the places of conditioning. Several major league teams would have had the satisfaction of being into camp ahead of any Coast League team but for the fact that the owners of the Oakland team decided to start their pitchers and catchers fifteen days earlier than the regular squad. It is just two weeks today since Del and Ivan Howard greeted the batters men of the local club at the Myrtledale camp, and from all accounts, the brothers are more than pleased they did. According to word from Del Howard this morning, the pitchers in camp at present are in as good condition as were the pitchers when they returned after the full training period last spring.

Del Howard, vice-president, straw boss and whatever else you wish to call him in connection with the Oakland club, is highly pleased with the way things have broken for the pitchers and catchers in training for the past couple of weeks at Myrtledale camp. Both Del and Ivan Howard and the pitchers are in as good shape at the present time as was the pitching staff of the local club when it started its training about the first of April last year. The pity is that the fellows who come into camp tomorrow expecting to show a lot of hitting ability right off the jump, the pitchers and catchers are practically at the start of the season, and are having a hard time and under careful watching of Trainer Finlay he will be all set when the season starts," said Del Howard.

Young Fellows Will Get Chance to Make Club.

With several more days of sunshiny like that of yesterday at the training camp of the local team every pitcher and catcher without a doubt should be all set as Howard said. They are not in the best of shape, but the arms can do, and unless the unlooked for happens Trainer Finlay is not going to have the big job treating the arms of the pitchers and catchers as he did last year.

The party at camp figures to be swelled to at least thirty-five by tomorrow evening, as the last batch of players have been advised to be at Myrtledale on Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock to leave for the happy training grounds. It has been mentioned that the Howard brothers are going strong and veteran players that a year or from all indications they will be just as strong for the young fellows. About a dozen of the young kids will be in camp to eat and sleep and train, as there are several places on the club to be battled for one or two of them have a good chance to land a regular job. Johnny Ford and Dan Alley are a couple of the young cutters who are seeking to run Mitee Motor on Pete Read out of a job, while the youngsters on the pitching staff are Ovville, Shoulard, Lane Shultz, Jimmy Foster, Jim Arlett and "Lefty" Johnson. Phil Gardner and Lee "Lucky" Johnson are a couple of young fellows ambitious to become outfielders for the local club. They have had a hard fight on their hands with Fred Achard, Claude Cooper, Tom Brown and Dan Alley. Wille to buck. In the infield the family is causing players to forget ethics of the game and wander from the course of strict amateurism. Laxity in the enforcement of the rules of baseball is playing a definite role in baseball or more or less blinded by the majority of officials for the present conditions. Athletes have come to believe that the offense consists not in playing in a prohibited company, but in kicking the ball. It was found that the players involved that they looked upon it as a lark, and when they learned of the big betting on the game they wanted to get out of it, casting about for a means of correcting the conditions, the wisest of the officials lead to the belief that the cure rests in the men themselves. They say that nothing is an absolute rule, and the rule on the part of athletic students will remove what danger the game has found itself in from professional affiliation.

Golf Has Become Part of Training For Ball Players

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—Golf has been added to the curriculum for the conditioning of baseball players, according to reports coming from the various training camps of the major league clubs. From the Spring, Ark., word was received that Babe Ruth, the home-run king, lost little time getting out his golf sticks. The banker suggested rarely misses an opportunity to visit the Hills, the white ball around the links.

Eddie Collins, second baseman of the Chicago White Sox is another athlete who enjoys a morning round the links. Bill Killeen, manager of the Chicago Cubs, showed his love for the game when he led a foursome around the links at Cara-lina Island. The Cubs' training camp, the other day.

Individuals have been received by some of the baseball players from various golf clubs throughout the country, extending the freedom of the grounds and not infrequently the players of different clubs meet on the links. Baseball writers, traveling with the clubs, also have taken to the game and much of the early day is spent on the links. Players often make a game of it.

Golf players gathering here preparatory to the trip to the training camps discussed the merits of the game and the consensus of opinion was that it ought to be included in the spring training for baseball players. The football days of 1916, when Huntington, then a player on the team, was competing with another member of the squad for the title of "King of Sweats" is a mighty good man with golf clubs. You can readily see that the game has its advantages."

COACH AT PITTSBURGH.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 28.—Friends here were advised today that James D. Ford Jr., former University of Pittsburgh football man, has signed a contract as assistant football coach at Center College, Ky.

Meusel, Pipp Come to Terms With Yankees

Babe Ruth, Carl Mays Still Members of "Holdout Club."

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Signed contracts of Wally Pipp, first baseman, and of bob Meusel, the slugger outfielder, who, along with Babe Ruth, drew a suspension from Commissioner Landis for barnstorming last fall, have been received at Yankee headquarters. Both men have started south and will join the squad in training at New Orleans, the latter part of the week.

Miller Huggins, Yankee manager, was reported by Hot Springer, All-American reporter, as was rumored, however, that the Yanks were having trouble getting Babe Ruth and Carl Mays to come to terms and that Huggins was in the city for the purpose of taking care of the situation.

The New York Giants' squad was due in San Antonio, their spring training ground, tonight. The squad was joined at St. Louis yesterday by George Sisler, one of the world's hurling heroes, who was announced by McGraw's club as on the market. Barnes assured his teammates that he probably would sign a contract this evening when he meets McGraw at San Antonio.

Wilbert Robinson's Brooklyn Dodgers were gathering today at Jacksonville, Fla., where the first real workout has been called for tomorrow.

Nothing further will be done in the case of Roush, one of the directors of the club said yesterday. This official said there will be no further inducements made to the outfielder and he will not be traded in any circumstances.

Other Attractions Keeping Many College Men From College Teams.

Jazz Blamed For Troubles In Athletics

Jack Reynolds, Hoosier Coach, Claims Record

Has Not Lost Wrestling Match in Eleven Years in 100 Mat Bouts.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Feb. 28.—Jack Reynolds, welterweight wrestling champion of the world and wrestling coach at Indiana University, has had a remarkable record since he entered the mat room eleven years ago. He has wrestled in more than 1000 bouts without losing a match, a feat which has never before been accomplished by a man in his class.

Every reason under the sun has been attributed as the cause, but it remained for George Brooke, former Paul star and coach at Swarthmore, to give the reason for the record.

Lots of the modern fits are being laid at the feet of Jazz and Brooke claims that to be the cause—that is eating into the great gridiron sport.

He is not the only one who thinks the money do not go out for the college teams any longer," he says. "The automobile, the cabaret, the jazzers—all these have given those boys an interest in the game to keep them interested and put them in the company of the other sex."

TIMES HAVE CHANGED.

"In the old days, if you wanted to be in with the ladies, you were a baseball player, a football player or an athlete of standing. But not now. Every reason under the sun has been attributed as the cause, but it remained for George Brooke, former Paul star and coach at Swarthmore, to give the reason for the record."

THREE CHAMPIONSHIPS DECIDED IN EASTBAY BASKET LEAGUE

STANFORD, CALIFORNIA ARE SCRAPPING ABOUT PLAYING THIRD GAME OF COURT SERIES

LOCAL AUDITORIUM IS SCENE OF GREAT BASKETBALL PLAYING

Championship Contests of the Eastbay Hoop League Are Fought Before Big Crowd.

By DOUG. MONTELL.

The Oakland Auditorium was the scene of the greatest carnival of basketball ever staged in the Eastbay last night when five rip-snorting games were staged under the auspices of the Eastbay Basketball League. The evening was a perfect success in every way, the championships in three divisions of the Eastbay league being settled as a result of the contests and the fans, who turned out in a goodly number to root for their respective favorites, were treated to great exhibitions of the indoor sport. Every game was fast and hotly contested, and although in some of the games the difference in the score would tend to indicate an uneven contest, in every case the teams were very well matched and provided keen competition. It was difficult to name the feature contest of the evening, for while the final between the Oakland "Y" and the Livermore N. S. G. W. team was saved until the last, it had no more attraction to the fans than the opener between the Aedui and Lincoln Arrows in the 120-point division.

In the big special event the Livermore boys, comprised of the McClinchy family and one of the Smiths, not the original Smith Bros., one of the top players in the "Y" leaders of division two of the Eastbay Unlimited League. Although the "Y" lads were stepping over their heads to play such fast company the more or less game fight against the skilled Livermore quintet was not supported by the fans in their efforts to stop Jim, Bill, John and Joe from running rampant, which they did to a considerable extent. The final count was 31-18 in favor of the country town representatives, but the Y. M. C. A. played an even second half against the Livermore team. The four teams have proved great team work, the passes, Jim to Joe to Bill being extremely effective, with points evenly distributed among them. Jim, the former Santa Clara center, was the leading point scorer with 10 to his credit. The game was unusually free of fouls, for the play was fast and the boys, although coming together frequently, played with great skill. Two fouls were called on the "Y" and three on Livermore throughout the entire game.

Livermore Boys Show Fans World of Class.

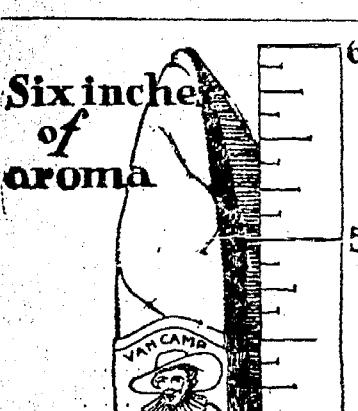

The Livermore team, practically the same organization, when they go up against the San Jose American Legion five, their rival for the championship. The two teams are to meet in a series of three games, the first of which takes place at Livermore next Saturday night. The San Jose team, composed of former college stars including "Swede" Righter and Mills of Stanford's crack team of last year which tied with the University of California in the Pacific Coast conference championship. The second game will be played at San Jose and the third on a neutral court, probably in Oakland. The games will be the feature of the present amateur basketball scene and the class of basketball to be put on display will be as good as that played around the bay this year by college teams.

Socci Omnes Win the Division Title.

Back to last night's happenings. The next in order of importance was the clash of the Pex Stars and Socci Omnes boys in the first division of the Eastbay Unlimited League. The Socci Omnes boys won the game in the second half by a count of 16-24 after having been held to a 14-14 tie for the first period. Pex made a strong start but it was a case of too much Pex against the clever team work of the Socci Omnes boys. Grant was the surprise of the evening and those who got into the game at running guard during the second half played up well. The general feature of the evening of O. Olsonson was the deciding feature of the game for he made ten of thirteen attempts from the free throw line while the Pex boys came up with only six. Had they made their foul to the same extent that the Socci Omnes star center did they would have won easily as their floor work in the first half was far better and they registered six field goals to three of the Socci Omnes crew.

Oakland "Y" Play Final Game Tonight.

Olsonson was the star of the evening with 22 points to his credit while Vons and Brigen were tied with 9.

The cigar you have been waiting for. Full Havana filler.

Large Amount of Liquor Confiscated in House On Kirkham Street.

Federal warrants will be obtained today, according to the police, for the arrest of two men and a woman on charges of violating the prohibition amendment, as the outgrowth of a raid yesterday on a house at 1617 Kirkham street, resulting in the arrest of Frank Jardine, a stationary engine fitter, and the confiscation of a still and a large amount of liquor.

According to the police, those for whom federal warrants will be sought are John and Mary Freitas and Michael Pernell, all residing at the Kirkham-street address. They charge that the Freitas couple own the premises and that ten gallons of jackass brandy were found in the room of Pernell, who is a roofer.

Yesterday's raid was conducted by the authority of a federal search warrant. The raiding officers were Prohibition Enforcement Agents E. C. Wolfe and E. Kennedy, of the Prohibition Bureau, and C. E. Lockhorns. They said the still and a quantity of mash still were warm when they entered the building. They seized 185 gallons of wine, fifty gallons of jackass brandy and 100 gallons of mash.

He states that he will be supported by the Broadview Improvement club of which he is a member. Duck is the second to enter the race for city trustee, the first being Mayor Allan Pelton.

MRS. CHARLES HENSHEL, who was Miss Adeline Johnson before her elopement to this city from Redwood City with Charles R. Henshel, who is shown in the lower picture.

Fourteen hours after his mother had relented and acted as a witness to his marriage, 18-year-old Charles R. Henshel, of Redwood City, received a telegram from his father in Chicago, today, refusing consent to the wedding. Henshel and Miss Adeline Johnson, also 18 years of age, entered upon their first day of married life today.

BELL'S FORM SYMPHONY.

The jingle of telephone bells, the clink of the patrol wagon going and the ring of wedding bells contributed to the young couple's matrimonial symphony. An irate parent, a sojourn in the city prison, an eloquent and a couple of policemen also figured in their experience.

Henshel lives at Menlo Park. His bride is from Redwood City.

They eloped from Redwood City to Oakland yesterday. Mrs. Kathryn Slinger came to the local police and telephoned to the local police to hold the couple if they attempted to procure a license.

These instructions were compiled with when they appeared at the county clerk's office yesterday. They were taken to the police station in the patrol wagon.

Mrs. Slinger came here from Menlo Park by auto when informed that the elopers were held pending her arrival.

MOTHER GIVES CONSENT.

At the city prison, before his mother's arrival, Henshel said that although he had been living with his mother and his stepfather, his mother is not his legal guardian. He said he had been given over to the custody of his father following the divorce of his parents ten years ago.

On his arrival in Oakland, Mrs. Slinger had to talk with her son and the girl of his choice and changed her mind and consented to act as witness at the wedding of the young couple. Judge Mortimer Smith performed the ceremony last night.

The telegram of refusal from Henshel's father was in response to a wired request from the son that the father consent to the son's marriage. Young Henshel wired his father yesterday when he learned that his mother was attempting to block the marriage.
